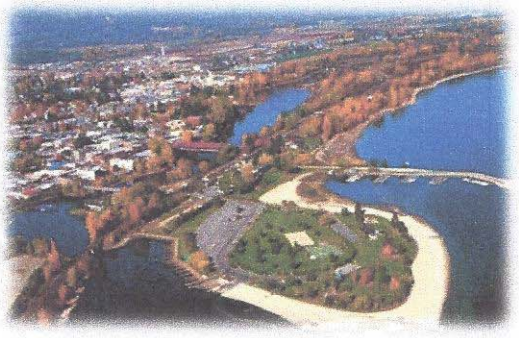
Open Source Intelligence & Internet Investigations

April 7-9, 2014



Generating timely actionable intelligence from the internet

This comprehensive training course will teach you how to conduct more-effective online investigations.

The Private Intelligence Corporation has developed a three-day course to be presented at the Bonner County Sheriff's office.

A three-day course in Sandpoint, Idaho

The Internet has the information investigators need, but they need to know where to look. This comprehensive training program will demonstrate how the Internet works and how to gain insight, establish criminal predicate and secure electronic evidence. Participants will learn advanced techniques to mine data using a wide variety of search tools and how to uncover hidden information from websites, blogs, social media and other sources online. This course will also increase awareness of security and privacy issues and will emphasize best practices for officer safety.

This highly practical and interactive course is led by David Hale, Executive Director of the Private Intelligence Corporation (www.PrivateIntelligence.us), an Internationally Certified Intelligence Analyst, Cyber-forensic Examiner, Law Enforcement Instructor & Certified Law Enforcement Background Investigator.

Course Topics

- The most powerful online search techniques
- Deconstructing Web Pages for intelligence
- Officer Safety – Working Undercover Online
- The "Deep Web" - Public Directories and Databases
- Multimedia Search Tools and Techniques
- Crowd-sourcing and the Real Time Internet Monitoring
- Online Intelligence Opportunities and Threats
- Maintaining Security and Protecting Privacy
- Locating and Linking People, Places and Things
- Discover Locations of Websites and Users
- Capturing, Organizing and Storing Web Based Evidence
- Automated Mapping and Monitoring of Websites
- Forum, Discussion Board and Newsgroup Search
- Investigating Blogs, Wikis and Social Networks
- The "Dark Web" Contraband in Online Marketplaces
- Understand how to leverage images, video and other multimedia

Attendees should bring a laptop computer & will receive a flash drive with a comprehensive collection of training materials.
The course begins at 0800 on April 7, 2014. The cost is $300.

Registration ends Mar. 21,2014. Contact Bob at the Bonner County Sheriff's Office at (208) 263-8417 or email training@privateintelligence.us